Foreword

Open this book and capture a glimpse of yourself and those who have gone before you. Turn the pages and look at your high school life, a way of living that comes but once in a lifetime.

We, the staff, now present the 1960 edition of the Cat's Paw.

Catlettsburg High School Teacher With 37 Years Of Service Is Retiring

CATLETTSBURG: A teacher with 37 years of service at Catlettsburg High School retired at the end of the school term and was honored by members of the Catlettsburg Education Association and school board.

W. B. Stallard was head of the mathematics department at CHS at the time of his resignation. He began his career in Georgia and Alabama schools.

A native of Whitesburg, he received his AB degree from Kentucky Wesleyan College when the school was located at Winchester. He earned his MA degree at the University of Kentucky, Lexington.

The two education groups presented the retired teacher with a reclining lounge chair on his birthday anniversary on May 3rd before school closed.

His wife, the former Nora Ruby, is also an educator. She is principal of Maxine Yost School. The couple are the parents of three children, Mrs. Hugh (Katherine) Jenks III, who attended Marshall College at Huntington; Dow Stallard, University of Kentucky and Bill Stallard who received his Ph.D. degree in botanical science from the University of Texas.

The popular professor was also honored by freshman and junior English students at CHS. They dedicated a book of poems to him and this is the first time a book of poems has been published at the school. Eighty-six students contributed to the book. Mrs. Lovell Liles, head of the English department, served as editor.

A quote from a poem dedicated to Stallard—says: "he is always working and never idle and in his years of teaching, he has never failed to do his best for each boy and girl."

The other poems in the book included various subjects, some serious, some humorous. The books are on sale for anyone desiring to own one, according to Mrs. Liles.

Mrs. Lile's students also participated in a recent essay contest sponsored by the Propellor Club. Of the fourteen entries, five received valuable prizes. Jerry Ross won a 10 day river boat trip to Owensboro for himself and one other person; Tommy Chaffins won a fifty dollar bond; Barbara Friley was the recipient of a 25 dollar bond; David Burke and Susie Lewis each won excellent desk reading lamps. Mrs. Liles will also get a trip on a river boat during the summer months.
